(4-15-2019) [N/A - NEW].. I got everything back except the monitor.
It is 22Inch of course and I managed to grab the V1.6.Q: Angularjs controller with html inside I am trying to make the angularjs controller with this html Hello The angular part is written in a separate file from the html

angular.module('testApp', [])
.controller('testController', function ($scope) { $scope.click = function() { alert("Hello"); }; });

Is the above
code right? I am new to angular A: Yes, it is right. But what you can do to improve, is to create a directive for your anchor. It will be something like this: `app.directive('myAnchor', function(){ return { restrict: 'E', template: 'Hello' } })` Q: R - Vectorize code using `lapply` I am struggling with vectorizing this code: `abc=unique(mno %>% tidyr::unnest(data))` `lapply(abc, function(x) lapply(mno %>% tidyr::unnest(data), function(y) y[y$y==x]))` Basically I'm comparing two columns of data by applying a function to each group in the first column. When I apply to one column (`mno`) and use `tidyr::unnest` to split the data it works as expected but when I combine `tidyr::unnest` with another `lapply` I get: Error in `if (!(x$xlim$upper == y$xlim$upper || x$xlim$lower == y$xlim$lower)) { :`
