Sebastian Jesuthas, a Singaporean of Indian descent, had managed to escape from Singapore's Immigration Department's custody on two occasions in December last year. The Straits Times reported that he was arrested for unlawful entry at Changi Airport's Terminal 1 departure lounge on January 16. He fled detention and headed to Frankfurt. He was arrested at Frankfurt Airport on January 18 and was sentenced to one month's imprisonment. On February 10, he was deported and was found at Paris Airport. In Singapore's High Court on May 16, he was sentenced to six months' jail and three strokes of the cane. He was also disqualified from being a Singapore citizen for a period of six years. A judge said in his sentencing that: "The sentences in relation to the past offences should act as a deterrent so that this type of offence will not be repeated again." The judge also heard from a psychologist who said that Mr Jesuthas had a family history of mental illness. Mr Jesuthas was sentenced to 12 weeks' jail for each offence, a total of 36 weeks. He was sentenced under the law for escaping lawful custody, and served a total of three months' jail after the two prior escape attempts.Q: Is the middle name of an author always different from the last name? I've seen a few instances of this, where the author has a middle name that is "weird" and not the same as the last name. Is this common? In particular, I'm wondering if I should just go by last name, in this case, Yuen. A: It really depends on the person
