The present invention relates generally to improvements in processes for dewaxing and/or desulfurizing petroleum residua (e.g., dewaxed and/or desulfurized residua, including hydrocracked/hydrotreated residua) to produce a middle distillate fuel product. More particularly, the present invention relates to the removal of solids, such as asphaltenes, from the residua by contacting the residua with an intimate mixture of supercritical carbon dioxide and an aqueous steam containing dissolved alkali metal carbonates, or by contacting the residua with an intimate mixture of supercritical carbon dioxide and an aqueous solution of alkali metal hydroxide. Petroleum residua is a material remaining after the conventional processes of refining, such as atmospheric or vacuum distillation or solvent extraction have been applied to crude oil, and, therefore, comprises high boiling point, carbonaceous residue having a boiling point at atmospheric pressure, and whose boiling point at 0.degree. C. is greater than about 450.degree. F. It also includes a lighter fraction known as middle distillates (e.g., kerosene, fuel oil, diesel oil, gas oil, and the like) obtained by conventional distillation at atmospheric pressure. These are considered as residual from that point of the oil distillation process where the residua begins to break down, and it consists generally of naphtha, gas oil and distillates, together with some hard, heavy petroleum coke. In addition to residual, residua includes hydrocracked residue comprising carbonaceous material boiling above 450.

Raeliana Anderal was a young woman from a long family line. She was a 16 year old girl who lived on a little farm with her grandmother, and her uncle who helped on their farm. During the day Raeliana was busy doing chores around her grandmother's farm. She was not spoiled like most younger children. She did what was expected of her and she made sure her cousin Amber lived too. The day began like most of her days, she had planned on helping her uncle to build more barns. "How many other animals are there?" She asked her uncle. "We are just building our barn's, need more space?" He explained, "Well there is Mr. Orpin but he would need a warehouse," He said. "You can't build more barns, you should go and build a warehouse, not a barn?" She questioned in disbelief. "It is part of her plan for us, she is coming to visit the estate next week, and the men are building barns for her horses." He explained. "What! She does not know horses it is against the rules for everyone to have horses. Besides which, she does not have any friends, she is avoiding everyone." "It is a pride thing now, they must be hidden in the forests, that is one reason I would leave the house and you to the dangers of the forest." He responded. "If they would just be friends! You saved Raeliana, don't get her on a journey that's going to kill her!" She countered. "Raeliana, there are laws around here, you will be safe." He replied. "... I can't believe you, why didn't you tell me that's why we were sent to this special place where people are mean." She replied. "How would you react when a king tells you they sent you there for your own good?" He asked. "... That is why I don't like kings." She replied. "Oh, now we are back to why I saved your life when the noble guards took you hostage. Do you want to live or die?" He asked
