Q: how to use html files as templates in django project I know how to use static files in Django projects as templates. I have a small survey system built with Django. In that system, the question details and answer (relevant to each survey) are defined in html files, and when the survey is ready the html files are included in the django project and parsed to render the survey details and response. I don't like the idea of having to go to the system code and modify html templates. Is there a way to just use html template files instead of having them in the system directory. Is there any django module which takes html file as template (and parses for rendering) What I c6a93da74d
