

primo specializes in charting and has published dozens of books about money management and technical analysis. he has developed many proprietary methods and proprietary indicators that not only make charting easier, but also that increase the trader's potential profit. he has also been the subject of the movie "virtual control" starring michael douglas and robert de niro which was written by robert rodriguez and directed by robert rodriguez. primo currently teaches in seminars and in his private one on one fortune traders program held in new york city and los angeles. he also teaches a small number of regular classes in a private members club in new york city. for more information on these programs please click here: <http://www.stevenprimo.com> disclaimers: using your own money on the forex market is risky. i am not a financial adviser and this message is not intended as financial advice. it is for entertainment and education purposes only. think for yourself and don't listen to what others say. source: <https://pbs.twimg.com/media/C7xiu4euwaeatC?format=jpg> if you're not a subscriber yet, you can sign up at <https://twit.tv/myta> twitter: <https://twitter.com/forexguy> the second post was simply 'clone font so i can use it in my lessons. i'm doing russian lessons next week, and obviously need the alphabet on my laptop. unfortunately my laptop has an american keyboard, so i have no clue how to type in cyrillic, and i certainly can't read it.' so i really need to find a way to get those russian characters on my screen without having to open up a new program. i had no idea how to do this, until i came across a website that explained how to clone fonts in windows xp. (this is a way to use a font on your computer that you get from another computer or a website!)
