Cubism Editor is a software tool that empowers creators to turn static .Prevention of local recurrence in breast cancer by intratumoral injection of human monoclonal antibody in a nude mouse model. In attempts to prevent the local recurrence of breast cancer, we conducted intraoperative intratumoral injection of a human IgG2 monoclonal antibody (mAb) into 20 nude mice bearing breast cancers of the same histological type. In the mice, which had not been injected with the mAb, the tumor growth was observed for more than 8 weeks. The mAb was administered with a 10-min interval after the tumor excision. The growth of the tumors could be inhibited by the intratumoral injection of the mAb in all 13 mice which had been treated 10 days after the tumor excision. The remaining 7 mice showed regrowth of the residual tumor. The duration of antibody treatment could be prolonged by repeated administration of the antibody. In the mAb-treated mice, no migration of neopl
